Roma's flexible polypropylene back changes shape as you move.

Roma's optional flexible polypropylene back is not rigid, it allows the lumbar area and upper back to move and flex. It changes shape to accommodate your body movements, body shape and the tasks you are performing. The entire back is under constant tension to provide a comfortable floating motion that moves when you do, or it can be locked in an upright position for additional support.

The Roma guest chair has a flip up seat for easy storage.
